"Aunt Sarah" Neely Celebrates Ninety-sixth Birthday Sunday

Comanche's oldest, and one of the most honored, citizens celebrated her 96th birthday Sunday when nearly a hundred friends and relatives gathered at the home of Mrs. Aaron Little to honor her mother, "Aunt Sarah" Neely on the occasion of her annual birthday party which has been observed with a gathering of relatives for nearly a quarter of a century.

Despite her age, Aunt Sarah was up early Sunday morning for the celebration and was the life of the gathering throughout the day. Before she went to her daughter's home, she was greeted by a group of children from the Baptist Sunday School who carried her flowers and soon after her arrival at Mrs. Little's, three more children, Dorothy Jean Armstrong, Ray Burr and Thelma Jean Haslev came from that Sunday School to sing birthday greetings to the honoree.

A bounteous dinner featuring a huge birthday cake was served at noon under the shade trees on the lawn.

The honoree was the recipient during the day of many gifts and flowers and received a postal card shower through the mail.

Relatives present in addition to those living in Comanche were Mrs. Annie Bryant of San Angelo, Mrs. Larry Kittles of Ozona, Mrs. W. H. Parker of Fort Worth, Mrs. A. L. Mills of Pearlsall, Miss Ora Mills of Midlothian, Weldon Mills of Brownwood, Mr. and Mrs. Holmes Mills and son, Fletcher Holmes of San Angelo, Mrs. J. N. Neely, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Neely, Mr. and Mrs. Will Stephens all of Abilene and Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Prater and son, Charles of Hamilton.

Special guests included her pastor, Rev. Gordon Barrett and wife, and J. A. and Jesse Reese and family of Newburg who were reared in Mrs. Neely's home.

Aunt Sarah came to Comanche county 79 years ago, before the county was organized in 1855.

BENTON LAYMAN SENTENCED TO LIFE TERM AT GLEN ROSE

Benton Layman of Comanche and former Sidney Star Route mail carrier was sentenced to life imprisonment by a District Court jury at Glen Rose Friday in connection with the robbery on July 19th of Mr. and Mrs. George Lewis, aged couple who live near the resort city.

Layman, who also is said to go under the alias of Richard Renfro was taken to Fort Worth for safe keeping following the Glen Rose trial.

According to evidence brought out in the trial Mr. Lewis, 87, and his wife and her aged brother were beaten with guns by robbers who took $600 from Lewis and $500 from his wife at their farm residence near Glen Rose on the night of July 19th last.

Bloody clothing, partly burned, and believed to have been worn by the bandits were said to have been found in a pasture and a pair of shoes was found buried near by. Charles Hoffman, Comanche merchant, testified that he sold Layman a pair of shoes of the same make and number and size shortly before the robbery.

Layman plead his own case at the Glen Rose trial and gave notice of appeal.

Johnnie Dingus of Kansas, said to be an ex-convict, according to officers, confessed that he took part in the robbery and named "Richard Renfro" as his companion. Dingus was given 17 years in the penitentiary in connection with the case. Tommie Day was also indicted in connection with the robbery.

Layman is under two sentences from Comanche County assessed at the Fall term of court. He was given a year on a liquor charge and 5 years years on a charge of robbery with fire arms. He was accused of robbing an aged Sipe Springs man.

The former mail carrier is still under an indictment in this county on a charge of theft of mohair from Dr. A. J. Gray and is under indictment in Brown County for robbery with fire arms.

STATE BOARD DECISION TO LOWER AVERAGE ONE-FOURTH

REPORT SHOWS COUNTY IN GOOD FINANCIAL SHAPE

Comanche County's bonded indebtedness has been reduced approximately $18,000 within the last year and the county funds on deposit total more than $40,000 according to the annual financial report made to the Grand Jury by the financial committee consisting of F. H. Bain, C. F. Morris, and J. W. Littlejohn.

Complimenting the county officials, the report says, "We find that the county books are correctly kept and neatly and orderly arranged and that the various officers making the reports and handling the finances of the county are showing themselves to be thoroughly competent and trustworthy."

The bonded indebtedness since April, 1933 has been reduced from $240,446.25 to $223,000.00.

The balance on deposit to the credit of the operating funds was $34,459.78 and to the Interest and Sinking Funds $5,910.88.

Of vital importance to cotton farmers of Comanche County was a decision handed down by the State Cotton Board of Review this week that the Comanche County yield estimated by 1104 farmers who signed contracts is too high and the estimated average yield for the past five years was cut from 9,108 bales as placed by the farmers to 6,808. This means that the pay allotted Comanche County farmers for their part in the 1934 cotton acreage reduction will be lowered more than a fourth.

A joint meeting of the Comanche Community Committee and the County Committee was held here Wednesday and heard the State report and the committees are now busy making reductions and adjustments on the individual contracts. A member of the County Committee stated that the U. S. Census of 1930 gave the average yield of Comanche County for the past 5 years as 6,338 bales and if this is taken into consideration, the yield estimated by the State Review Board does not seem out of line.

A meeting of all farmers who signed contracts at Comanche including the communities of Harmony, Mercers Gap, Fairview and Comanche, is called at the district court room here Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

A meeting is also to be held Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock at Sidney and also at Newburg at the same time.

County Agent J. A. Barton's statement concerning the situation follows: Comanche County community committees are busy this week in making adjustments and will have them ready for the cotton signers not later than Wednesday night and meetings will be held in various parts of the county for signers to meet and look over their contracts and see what their adjusted averages are and to either approve or reject the contracts. The meetings to be held will give the local cotton (Continued on Last Page)

THE METHODIST CIRCUIT

Another one of our citizens who came a long time ago is Brother R. L. McCorkle of the Sidney community. He lives at Sidney now, but just sold his farm at Beattie a few years ago. He came from Clilo, in Brown county, in the year of 1890. There was no Beattie then; the community was Sand Hill and the Methodist Church was served from Comanche and was a part of Comanche Circuit.

The community is an old one and had its beginning back in the early 70's. The Methodist church was organized by Dr. McQuary who was a practicing physician as well as a Methodist preacher, and he was good at both, a splendid physician and nurse, and held a real revival. The church was first organized as Copperas Creek but was moved to Sand Hill. W. H. Stephenson, H. Green, and J. R. Scott were the Stewards; Thomas S. Bingham was Class Leader, and J. W. Green was Sunday School Superintendent.

We might have added that Dr. McQuary was in some of the Indian fights, and was sometimes among them when they were peaceable. He met all the raw deals of an early day. Once a cowboy gave him five dollars and remarked "I will give you five more if I win that horse race." Those fine sturdy characters have made a greater contribution to our lives of which McQuary has one daughter, Mrs. W. W. Stephenson, living in that community, and another, Mrs. J. T. Daniels at Galveston. Both are "chips" off the same splendid block.

Brother McCorkle joined Sand Hill Church when he first moved to the community. Rev. R. W. Welborn was pastor, E. A. Bailey was presiding elder, Rev. J. J. Canifax was pastor in 1892, and Rev. J. F. Longino in 1893. The Sipe Springs Circuit was divided about 1894, and Brother H. S. Anglin took the East end of the Circuit. Brother McCorkle said the thing most remarkable then was the real revivals. He has been a member of the District Conference many times, varying from the Cisco District to Dublin District, and the Brownwood District as the work was changed, meeting sometimes as far north as Breckenridge and sometimes at Ballinger or Comanche.

Brother McCorkle is one of our members at Sidney who stands by the pastor, and loves to see the church prosper in spiritual strength.

We preached at Harmony the Fifth Sunday with a good congregation both morning and evening hours.

We were surprised before the Sunday School hour, when J. R. McKenzie and Miss Louise Layman, a fine couple of our community, came to get married. The ceremony was read in the church and the happy couple remained for the preaching hour.

Lightfoot Makes Formal Statement Regarding Race

To the People of Comanche and Mills Counties:

After considerable hesitation, I have decided to make my announcement for the office of Representative for the 104th District composed of Comanche and Mills Counties; I am 40 years of age, married and have a family and my home is at Rucker, Texas. For the benefit of those who are not acquainted with me, I wish to state that I have lived in and around De Leon for a period of about 28 years and during that length of time, I have, among other things, been engaged in the business of wholesale and retail distribution of gasoline, oil and other petroleum products. This has been my vocation for the past 6 years, and during that length of time I have established a business over Eastland, Comanche, Brown, Mills, Bosque, Erath, San Saba, Lampasas, Hamilton, and other counties, and I think I am in a measure acquainted with the needs of the people of the State of Texas in relation to the laws pertaining to my particular business.

In the past two or three years, the major oil companies and other predatory interests have gone into our legislative body for the purpose of stifling all competition and thereby putting out of business the independent oil and gasoline dealers; I know because I have had to struggle against the awful handicap and hardships occasioned by the passage of these laws. It has virtually made it impossible for myself and other independents to do business.

In addition to the above I have tried to keep myself informed on various questions of government, and I am thoroughly convinced that the government should be operated solely for governmental purposes, and the passage of special legislation designed principally to benefit special interests be stopped and stopped now. I pledge myself to use every power at my command to see that this is done. I advocate the following:

1. All measures that will in anyway rebound to the interest and benefit of the farmers of this state will have my hearty support in every way. Agricultural prosperity means good times for all, low priced farm products and a depressed agricultural situation means hard times for all. Being a matter of first importance, I shall at all times be open and ready to consider the advice of dirt farmers and those best informed in such matters.

2. The lowering of motor license and registration fees annually to an absolute minimum not to exceed Three Dollars per year, for any car.

3. I advocate the immediate changing of our criminal statutes as the same relates to procedure, so that trial judges will have more latitude in passing upon cases without fear of reversals by the higher court.

4. I advocate and will work with every means at my command, to abolish 90 per cent of the 118 or more bureaus now existing in Texas, and turn over to the local officers of each county those duties which are rightfully and constitutionally theirs, and take away from bureaus and commissions the power and authority which they now enjoy.

5. I most earnestly recommend to the voters of this district, and pledge myself to work unceasingly for the abolition of the powers vested in the Railroad Commission, and to take away from that Commission its powers to pass upon gas rates and oil promotion as it now exists and has been given under the present laws.

6. I am absolutely opposed to any sales tax, and believe that such tax would shoulder on to the little man least able to bear it, the principal burden of government. I am in favor of taxing the utilities and other special interests as they should be taxed, and compel them to pay their proportionate part of the burdens of our government.

7. I am in favor of the abolition of our Ad Valorem tax as early as it is possible to abolish it and thereby relieve the land in our state of its undue burden of taxation.

8. I am in favor of taxing gas companies, who send millions of feet of gas per day out of our state thru pipe lines, a sufficient amount to reimburse the people of Texas for this wastage of its natural resources.

9. Texas yields more than 85 per cent of the world's supply of sulphur. This sulphur is not being properly taxed. It is one of our greatest natural resources, and a tax of $5.00 per ton would not be excessive. I advocate this and will work for its passage.

10. I advocate the passage of laws compelling all oil companies situated in every county and with filling stations doing business therein to report, under oath, monthly, the amount of gasoline sold by them, with power on the part of the tax collector of each county to check their books to determine the correctness of this report, and thereby eliminate from the pay roll of the Comptroller's office more than 80 high salaried accountants and agents, who needlessly and uselessly spend the public money by running all over the State of Texas at the expense of the tax payers; that by such an arrangement as this, I am of the opinion that 75 to 100 millions of dollars could be collected in gasoline taxes instead of the thirty five to forty millions now collected, besides restoring to the people the constitutional and inherent right to local self government.

11. I advocate laws for the better protection of our schools and the perpetuation of our school systems. By the proper allocation of the funds coming in to the hands of the department of education there is no necessity of any child within the State of Texas going without the proper and necessary schooling for each and every year. I pledge myself to work unceasingly for the betterment of our schools and school systems, and in this connection will state that there is absolutely no necessity for any school teacher within our state going without his voucher being paid for months after the same is given, because, if the proper taxes are collected these vouchers can be paid without working any additional hardships on any person.

12. I favor an absolute and immediate return to constitutional government and the abolition of all offices, not specifically and directly advocated under our constitution.

On the above statement, I submit my candidacy to the people of the 104th Representative District of Texas, and pledge them that I will work in their interest, and that, without alinement with any predatory or special interest in this state.

J. L. LIGHTFOOT.

Cheese Factory A Valuable Asset

Offering to This and Adjacent Counties a Ready Market for Whole Milk and Manufacturing a Higrade Line of Cloverbloom Cheese, the Farmers Cheese Co. is a Valuable Asset to this Section. Mr. T. E. Majors, Directing Manager.

The history of progress in any community or city that has made any progress of note in the United States, invariably shows that their growth or expansion can be attributed to the manufacturing industries found within their bounds. With few exceptions wherein climate or natural resources have been the contributing factors, the communities or cities that have forged to the front as leaders in their states have had alert and progressive business men who pioneered in various manufacturing industries and thereby provided work for the people and payrolls to be distributed among the different business establishments.

In this respect Comanche County is fortunate in having in the Farmers Cheese Company, a manufacturing unit that is a real leader in their respective field. They are manufacturers of Cloverbloom Longhorn, Cloverbloom Square Print, and Cloverbloom Daisy Cheese, and altho only a small percentage of their output is absorbed locally, the manufacturing cost as represented to a great extent by payments to local farmers for raw materials and wages to employees are kept in Comanche where they are ultimately redistributed with local people. They also pay substantial amounts in taxes on their holdings here and in consideration of these facts they are entitled to the wholehearted support of this entire district.

Their products are in all cases the equal or superior of any similar ones shipped in from outside markets and due to the fact that it is a locally produced product with no freight rates attached they can give you a better product for less money than their competitors.

They are at the present time converting 20,000 pounds of whole milk into cheese daily and this amount will grow as the production of milk increases. They pay the highest prices possible consistent with the prevailing markets for milk and they have been the means of many farmers showing a profit during the year instead of the usual deficit many farmers had to face. We cannot forget the conditions that were prevalent before the advent of the Farmers Cheese Company. (Adv)

Is This Too Good for Your Cough?

Creomulsion may be a better help than you need. It combines seven major helps in one—the best helps known to science. It is made for quick relief, for safety. Mild coughs often yield to lesser helps. No one can tell. No one knows which factor will do most for any certain cough. So careful people, more and more, are using Creomulsion for any cough that starts.

The cost is a little more than a single help. But your druggist guarantees it, so it costs nothing if it fails to bring you quick relief. Coughs are dangerous. For safety's sake, deal with them in the best way known. (adv.)

FIRST METHODIST CHURCH

(Put God First)
Religion cultivates the inward look, the upward look, the outward look. There is coming a day when religion will be your best asset.

Sunday School, 9:45 a. m. O. H. Donaho, Supt. As a grown person in the community are you doing your duty to the younger generation by attending Sunday School? Start Sunday!

1:00 a. m. Preaching. The pastor will use as his subject: "Influence." You will enjoy the special music at this service.

7:15 p. m. Epworth League. This service will be a help and a blessing to you.

8:00 p. m. Preaching. "Then Jesus Came" is the subject of the sermon. Do you like sane evangelistic preaching? The pastor's heart burns for the unsaved. Bring your unsaved friends to the evening service!

Monday, 8:00 p. m. Workers' Council. Let each officer and teacher in the Sunday School be present. By the Grace of God we can make attendance of the Sunday School what it ought to be.

Wednesday, 8:00 p. m. Prayer Meeting.

Natural Gas Desired Heating Agent

Through the Expenditure of Thousands of Dollars in Past Years the Southwest Gas Co. Has Made Available a Public Utility Service of Real Value to This District.

The popularity that natural gas enjoys for either cooking or heating is almost universal. In all the years that gas has been used throughout the country no other heating agent has appeared which would give all the advantages offered by gas at the same cost. It is not only a cleaner heating agent, there being no soot or ashes with gas, but also preferable because of the limited operation necessary to use it.

Natural gas is far superior to artificial gas, however; in that it contains a greater heat content per cubic foot and in this respect Comanche is fortunate in being located sufficiently close to the natural gas fields to be able to obtain it. This situation, however, was made possible only through the expenditure of thousands of dollars by the Southwest Gas Company. It has been through the initiative and belief in the future of this section entertained by the executive of this company that they were promoted to invest heavily in providing a service of real importance to the home life of this community. They are equipped to supply for either home or industrial needs and their rates which are consistently in keeping with the cost of production are sufficiently low as to enable every home owner to avail himself of the convenience, efficiency and other advantages obtained through the use of gas.

At innumerable stores in Comanche one can find complete lines of gas appliances which are designed to beautify your home as well as to make housework a joy and pleasure. These appliances include house and water heaters and gas ranges of all kinds, as well as many other appliances whose efficiency they will be glad to explain to you. The space taken up by these appliances is negligible when compared to other heating and refrigerating methods and their use eliminates a lot of the drudgery and monotony associated with housework. Black-Draught Good For Biliousness and Bad Taste in Mouth

"I have found Theford's Black-Draught so good for biliousness, bad taste in the mouth and other disagreeable feelings due to constipation," writes Mrs. Mary Garner, of Burleson, Texas. "My mother used it for a number of years and we do not think there is a better medicine. I was pleased when I saw Syrup of Black-Draught advertised. I sent for it and gave it to my children (as a laxative) for colds and when they felt bad. Soon they felt fine." . . . Theford's Black-Draught for the grown folks — and Syrup of Black-Draught for the children.

use can we preserve and keep fresh the hundreds of perishable foods and delicacies which make up the present day menu. In this respect it is probably as important a preventative of sickness as any we might know of, for it prevents the growth of germs in food, whose presence might cause illness of a serious nature.
Government statistics show that of the $134.50 which the average family spends annually for doctor bills, $60.53 would be saved by proper food preservation and that of the $629.50 which the average family spends for food in a year, 10 per cent is lost by spoilage, the major part of which would be saved with ample use of ice.

Another thing is, that in the refrigerator in which commercial ice is placed, a complete circulation of the air occurs about seven times per minute. This operation carries odors from foods, such as fruits, etc., around to the melting ice, where they are absorbed by the water and carried off down the drain thus constantly purifying the air and preventing such odors from being absorbed by the other foods.

There are many other things contributing to the desirability of commercial ice, which are hardly known to the average person, which are obtainable at the Texas-Louisiana Power Co. Ice
office. A call will find them glad to explain the same to you.
They will also be glad to show you their complete line of modern refrigerators which are handled by them not for profit but that they may give better service to their patrons. It is possible with the modern refrigerator to maintain an even low temperature ranging from 42F. to 46 F. over any period of time.

This company is filling a community need in an efficient manner and since they furnish a substantial payroll that is spent locally and also pay both county and municipal taxes, they are deserving of your support to the fullest extent.

Use more ice and in the long run you will find that the safety, saving and convenience made possible by its use will more than compensate you for its cost.

SUMMARY GIVEN ON JURY CHARGE

Omitting the instructions as to matters of organization and routine duties, the substance of the court's charge, Judge R. B. Cross, presiding, to the Grand Jury, as furnished through the courtesy of Court Reporter Hervey Chesley, Jr., was as follows:

Gentlemen of the Grand Jury: You twelve men have been selected in the manner provided by law to serve as the Grand Jury for this county at this term of your court. You were selected, gentlemen, because somebody believed in you and felt that you had the best interest of your government and society at heart. Your duties are to make a check or rather take an inventory of the situation in this county with reference to law observance and to report such matters as you think needs attention to this court by proper bills of indictment.

The oath you have just taken is a very comprehensive one. Every sentence is brim full of meaning. If you take it as your guide and govern your official acts as Grand Jurors by it, you will not go wrong. There is not one word that could be taken from that oath that would not in some measure detract from its meaning. While on the other hand, there is not one word that could be added to it that would make it more binding or cause it to cover a larger field. If the oath is followed, you will indict no man from envy, hatred or malice, on the other hand you will not be controlled or deterred in your actions through fear, favor, affection or hope of reward, but you will present things truly as you find them according to the best of your understanding so help you God.

I would not have you underestimate the importance of your duties. The duties you now perform was once the power and prerogatives of kings, and to that extent your duties are king-like in their nature. You are fighting the battles of peace. When war is declared against a foreign foe we make great preparation and spare no expense. Cannons roar, men march, flags are flying in the breeze, bands are playing and the troops are cheered by martial airs. Under circumstances like these the citizen who has become a soldier will march down the dusty road to death and die a hero on the battlefield. There is no martial music to cheer you on. There are no drums beating. No one to command you. Your oath and your conscience are your only guides. There is no yelling and cheering for you from the side lines. Yet notwithstanding all this, you are soldiers of peace fighting the battles that will preserve to us the ideals and institutions that will keep our civilization and our government for us and our children. To encourage you on I would have you bear in mind that the princely trait and the priceless virtue to which we all pay homage and respect is unfaltering fidelity to truth and unswerving devotion to duty.

In comparing the soldier of war with the soldier of peace some one has said that far above the conqueror of kingdoms and the destroyer of hosts by the sword and bayonet is he whose peerless victories redden no river and whiten no plain; who rears his empires not upon the broken fragments of subjugated nations but in the realm of the intellect that he has discovered and peopled and planted with beneficent and enduring joy. We are better men and women when we have given something in service and forgiven even more. Man does not attain perfection here, and we must learn the lessons of tolerance. We must cease making tragedies out of trifles and quit seeing demons in every dew drop. It will not hinder our growth mentally or morally if we be somewhat blind to the faults of friends and foes alike and try to find the virtues underneath those faults.

I believe that one of the great curses of this age and the cause of much crime is selfishness. The love of self. The desire to have self at ease. Getting a living and livelihood without honest endeavor. We need to begin anew to teach our children to get rid of false estimates and not to pattern their future by many of our selfish lives, but rather set up higher ideals. We need to teach now as we have never taught before that a life of crime does not pay. Sooner or later, somewhere down the road the cold gray walls of a state prison, the ghastly gallows or the horrors of the electric chair awaits the youth who gives his or her life to crime. We should relate and teach our children to realize that even were it possible to live a life of crime and partake of its fruits all the days of our lives without being caught (which is hardly possible) yet all the glamour and thrills of it are not comparable to the peaceful life lived in a quiet home with a garden and flowers of our own planting, a few books full of inspiration of some genius, a few friends worthy of being loved and able to love in turn, a hundred innocent pleasures that bring no pain to others and no regrets to us; a devotion to the right that will not swerve, a simple religion empty of bigotry, full of trust and hope and love, and to such a philosophy this world will give up all the joy it has, and the Barrows, the Hamiltons, the Dillingers and Bonnie Parkers will be no more.

Crime costs Texas in expense and loss of property at least one hundred million dollars a year. We have over 500 murders in Texas annually and 12000 murders annually in the United States. We have, according to statistics approved by the department of justice, 3000 kidnappings, 50,000 robberies and 40,000 burglaries a year in the United States. We spend five times as much in the maintenance of jails, prisons and penitentiaries as we do on the entire educational system. More is spent on the unlawful traffic and narcotics and liquor than is spent by all the churches of every denomination in America. This condition ought not to exist. You ask what can we do about it. We can begin right now, as every community must begin, to make Comanche County as free from the taint of vice and crime as it is possible for us to make it. You gentlemen are familiar with conditions here. I do not select any one class of crime and urge you to investigate it above another class. I give you in charge the entire penal code of this state and ask you to follow your oath and do your duty according to the best of your understanding.

After all gentlemen, it is difficult to sum up the many many guarantees and rights accorded to us under the written laws of our land. It is the law that permits you to come here and render this service to your county with a feeling that your property and loved ones are safe at home. It is the law under which every bank and business house in this land operates; and it is the law that says my child and yours has a certain amount of free schooling regardless of wealth or station in life. It is the law that permits us to assemble on the Sabbath Day and worship, free from governmental or other interference, as our conscience may dictate. It is the law that permits the fathers and mothers of this land to come into this court house and here defend the honor of their sons and protect the virtue of their daughters. Gideon when he stepped from the treading floor to fight the battles of his God never championed a cause more holy or entered a conflict more sublime than the farmer, the laborer, the business man, who lay down their respective emblems of toil and come here and sit side by side in the jury room to fight the battles of peace. We must wage and win the war against crime and vice.

It is a curious thing that the emotions attendant upon the advent of life, or birth, are not nearly so profound as those aroused by the passing of life. Yet, the two constitute eternal boundaries, one actually as great as the other. If this commonplace fact about life were not true, there would be no Trinity Church yard today, no monument to Washington, no tomb to the Unknown Soldier. Those things are a constant and magnificent tribute, not only to the individual for whom they were erected, but also to the affection and regard in which they were held by their fellowmen.

The lifetime deeds of every person, magnificent or humble, eventually fade with the mist of years and the only way in which we can perpetuate their memory monuments. They offer marble and assure to only quality craftsmanship, appeal—but also prices which This firm is Comanche's dealer in monuments. They do their own cutting and lettering, and with this in view it is only logical that they can give patrons a more efficient and satisfactory service than out-of-town firms. Patrons in this case can be on hand while work is being done and if changes are desired can have them made.

This firm is filling a community need that always exists in a town of this size, and local people should, since it is a locally owned business, carefully investigate their services and prices before even considering out of town firms. (Adv)

A. Davis of Brownwood Announces His Candidacy For State Senate And Outlines His Platform Regarding Race

Judge E. M. Davis of Brownwood announces in this issue of The Chief his candidacy for State Senate for the 25th Senatorial District.

Judge Davis was reared by farmer parents in Burnet and Lampasas Counties. In his young manhood, he taught school in Lampasas and Mills Counties, and later worked his way through the University of Texas, graduating in the Law and Academic Departments in 1912. The same year, he announced for county attorney of Lampasas county, and served four years in that capacity, after which he engaged in the private practice of law until the summer of 1917, when he volunteered for the Second Training Camp at Leon Springs. After his discharge from the Army, he moved to Brownwood, where he has since lived.

He served one term as city attorney of Brownwood, and six years as county judge of Brown county. While county judge, he was elected president of the County Judges and Commissioners Association of Texas, during which time he took a leading part in procuring legislation whereby the counties now receive the larger share of automobile license fees.

Judge Davis also served as a member of the 42nd Legislature, and he was largely responsible for the passage of the law which puts limitations upon commissioners' courts and city councils creating long-time indebtedness, and also the Pipe Line and Common Purchaser Bill, which requires the major pipe line companies to run and purchase oil ratably from all producers in any given field.

Judge Davis is an elder in the Presbyterian Church, a member of the American Legion, the Masonic Lodge, is captain of Company A, 142nd Infantry, TNG, and has been active for many years in scout work.

In announcing his candidacy, Judge Davis gave out the following statement:

If opportunity permits, I expect to discuss the various issues of the day in my campaign, but I list the following as a few of the things for which I stand, if you see fit to honor me with this high position:

First and foremost, I stand for reducing and simplifying all governmental agencies, in city, county and state, to the end that the cost of government may be materially reduced.

I favor abolishing the office of county treasurer, and requiring the county clerk to issue vouchers payable directly by the county depository. This is a small item, but means a saving of more than half a million dollars each year in Texas, and is one step toward reducing governmental expenses.

I favor consolidation of the offices of county and district clerk, which would mean an annual saving of many more thousands of dollars.

I favor consolidating all the law enforcing agencies of the county. This will not only mean a saving to the tax payers, but it will eliminate the petty jealousies which frequently impair the effectiveness of the law.

I favor the ultimate consolidation of all tax assessing and collecting units of each county, and thus reduce by half the enormous expense of assessing and collecting taxes for the various taxing units. This is fraught with difficulties until we eliminate the state ad valorem tax, and I am in favor of such elimination at an early date.

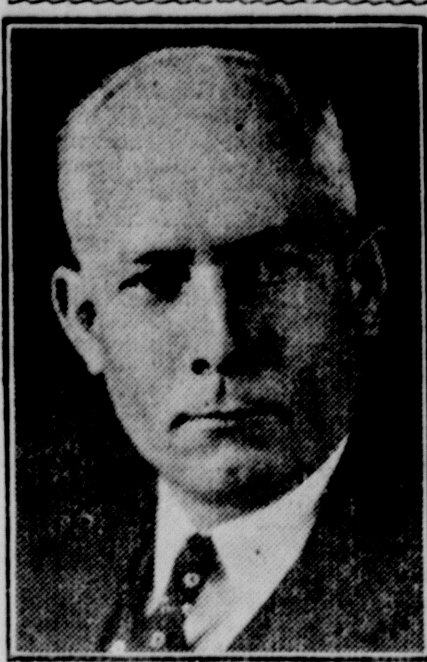

We have many state law enforcing agencies. I am in favor of the consolidation of all, or most, of these bodies into one trained body, with the duty of enforcing all laws, like the sheriff of the county; but I am not in favor of building up a large state patrol until the various agencies now existing are eliminated. I believe that half of the force now employed by the various departments, if consolidated into one trained body, would do vastly more, at less expense, toward enforcing all the laws of the state.

I favor simplifying our governmental machinery by consolidating and eliminating various boards and bureaus, and we should start now, instead of talking about it, as we have done in the past.

We must have some drastic reforms in court procedure. I favor laws permitting the state to amend indictments, and not permit indictments to be quashed, and defendants released, because of the omission of some stereotyped words or phrases. I favor the repeal of all laws which permit defendants charged jointly to demand a severance. The federal law now requires those indicted jointly to be tried together. This will eliminate thousands of separate trials each year, and save millions annually to the state and county, and will go a long way toward bringing the criminal element to justice.

I favor enactment of such laws as will guarantee the public adequate service by all public utilities at reasonable rates, with penalties and procedure simple enough to enable cities and towns easily to enforce the same.

There is an agitation for the repeal of the state prohibition amendment. I will vote to submit this question to the people at an early date. Personally, I am opposed to the return of the saloon. If said amendment is repealed, I will favor strict control of the liquor traffic.

I favor legislation which will enable co-operatives to conform to Federal Regulation and participate in Federal Aid through Federal Aid Co-operative Banks. I also favor a state system of rural credits.

This senatorial district is in the heart of the great undulating country which extends from Austin to Lubbock; and in my humble opinion, no lovelier land, no happier conformation, was ever penciled by the sunlight and the rain. It is the land of my birth, and that of my parents and my children, and to me the choicest spot on earth. But its productiveness is being destroyed through erosion; and unless steps are taken at once to protect it, within the next fifty years, it will be as desolate as Goldsmith's Deserted Village. Terracing requires machinery too expensive for the individual to own. I am in favor of laws which will permit and require the state and county to furnish equipment for terracing our farms, and thus conserve the fertility and insure the prosperity of our hill country for our children's children.

If elected, I pledge the people of this district that I will co-operate with the national government and the governor whom they elect, and will cheerfully give them four years of unselfish and untiring service.

E. M. DAVIS.

An Institution of Service

The Higginbotham Bros. & Co. Funeral Home Has Become a Definite Part of This Community, Realizes Its Responsibilities and Has Left Nothing Undone that Would Improve on the Service That They Make Available. Mr. Porter Franks, Director.

In recent years the most progressive of funeral directors have assumed a position of importance in their communities almost equal to that of the church or school. He performs an essential community service, one requiring technical training, business ability and personal integrity. He also performs a wide variety of services which were formerly expected of others or left on the shoulders of the bereaved family.

For this reason the funeral director should be chosen as carefully as you would choose other professional services. Training, experience, personal integrity, facilities for service and a sympathetic desire to lighten the burden of the bereaved all enter into this problem.

In this respect a characteristic stamp has been placed upon the Higginbotham Bros. & Co. Funeral Home service in their constant effort to attain a high degree of perfection. It has become known as a service distinguished by competency, dignity, sympathy and moderate cost.

Their chapel is commodious, with a seating capacity of about 50, and beautifully appointed and their least expensive funerals are given the advantage of this setting if desired. Their personnel, which includes one licensed mortician and Demi-Surgeon, whose 12 years of experience in his work makes his help and understanding invaluable in caring for our loved ones, and makes of these last rites a beautiful tribute to the deceased.

Their rolling equipment which includes an ambulance, is modern and is complemented by approved cemetery equipment. Their service is available 24 hours of the day and with their complete automobile equipment they can serve remote districts as well as those near at hand and with perfect satisfaction. (Adv)

Black-Draught Brings

Refreshing Relief of Constipation Troubles

Constipation produces many disagreeable sensations, several of which are mentioned by Mr. T. E. Stith, of Boonville, Ind., who writes: "I have used Theodor's Black-Draught many years when needed for biliousness and other minor ills when a laxative was needed. I have a tight feeling in my chest when I get bilious. I get dizzy and feel very tired, just don't feel like doing my work. After taking Black-Draught, I feel much better. This is why I continue to use it when needed." . . . Theodor's Black-Draught is a good, purely vegetable laxative, obtainable for 25¢ a package.

GULF WINS MORE "HILL TESTS" THAN 32 GASOLINES COMBINED

A BORROWED FORD tests 12 competing gasolines on Muldrough Hill, near West Point, Ky., to see which gas can pull the car and 3500-lb. load farthest up hill in high gear.

DRIVE IN AND TRY A TANKFUL!

there's more power in THAT GOOD GULF GASOLINE

Will your car have more power on any one gasoline? HERE'S YOUR ANSWER..

Gulf tested a total of 33 gasolines on famous American hills—12 hills in localities from Massachusetts to Georgia—and here is what they found...

The power of different gasolines varies widely! And of all 33 gasolines, Gulf is uniformly best. 7 out of 12 times, it propelled a car and load up mountain grades farther than any other gasoline tested!

It won more hill tests than 32 other gasolines combined! Prove it! Drive into a Gulf station, fill up, and test the power of That Good Gulf for yourself!

HOW 33 GASOLINES RANKED (IN ALL TESTS TO DATE)

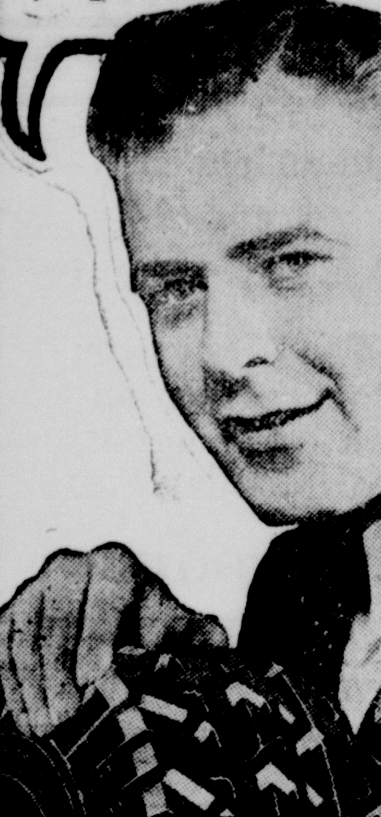

All gasolines tested, except a few "third grade" brands, sold for approximately the same price as That Good Gulf. Each brand is denoted by a letter.

WHAT HAS HAPPENED
John Hunter Yates resigns as president of his huge corporation to enjoy the romantic life of his life. He is 19. When his wife will not join him in his planned adventures, he takes Blossom Bailey, beautiful young actress, to Europe with him. While there, they meet Anthony Zukowski, youthful music composer and former piano teacher of the music-loving Yates. Zukowski falls in love with Blossom. Blossom reciprocates the love in her heart, but will not return it because of the kindness of Yates. She will do nothing to hurt him. Because of Zukowski's presence, she asks Yates to take her back to New York, after Yates has sponsored Zukowski's symphony and made him a success.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
New York Blossom Bailey to appear in a new show as the star John Hunter Yates, the unpublished sponsor of Anthony Zukowski, to appear in a series of concerts. New York Yates sat at one end of the long table. At the other end his wife, Elinor, picked at her grapefruit. She looked up at Yates.

"John, how long is it since you and I have breakfasted together?"

"No thanks," Yates paused then. "You've been perfectly marvelous all through this, Elinor."

"If I have it's only to make up for being perfectly stupid for twenty years."

"We've always been honest with each other. I'm coming right to the point. I think it would be better for everybody concerned if you got a divorce."

Elinor spoke quietly. "For everybody but you and me. Do you want to marry her?"

"I've asked her. Is there any reason why I shouldn't?"

"About thirty, John. But even if you could bridge the gap of years."

"So please please... don't ask me to be logical. I only want to be honest."

It still wouldn't be any good. You're asking her to marry you because you think that'll hold her. It didn't hold us did it? And, however much I've failed as a wife John at least I've never loved anyone else. A failure—yes. But a faithful failure.

You're not given to making unpleasant insinuations, Elinor. If you knew her—

"I do know her. I made it my business. And I like her. She's loyal and tremendously grateful. So you'll get loyalty and gratitude even if you don't marry her. But you won't get love, John. Because there's somebody else."

"Oh, yes you do. That's why you want to marry her. Build a wall. The sad part of it is you can't eliminate your rival. He'll grow more menacing with the years."

"If there is anybody else," said Yates, "who is it? What's his name?"

"Youth. His other name doesn't matter."

Yates stood up. His voice was harsh. "I'm not going to let you poison my mind against her with any stray piece of gossip you have. It's a pity we can't meet the issue in friendship and frankness. I'm terribly sorry. I never thought we'd face each other as enemies—but since you won't give me a divorce I shall be forced to get one."

Elinor stood also. "I'll contest it with all my strength. But whether I win or lose, I'm your wife. No court decision can ever change it. I'll always be your wife. And this is your home, John—to come back to—her voice faltered—"when you have no other place to turn to—"

She turned away suddenly to hide the tears that blinded her eyes.

Yates walked quickly to her. He placed his hand on her shoulder in a mute, clumsy gesture of comfort. She took his hand for a fleeting instant, then with a muffled "Good-bye," she was gone. Yates stared after her face a mask of stark misery. He picked up his cane and hat from a near-by chair and walked slowly from the house—the house that had been his.

Broadway electric lights told a tragic story. On a theatre marquee glistened this tale. OPENS TOMORROW BLOSSOM BAILEY IN A NEW PLAY—"BOY AND GIRL." The New York Symphony Hall's marquee read ZUKOWSKI—FAREWELL APPEARANCE.

Yates sat in the spacious living room of the apartment he had provided for Blossom. He started as the doorbell rang. The butler admitted a thick-set, squat individual. "Mr. Conroy," announced the butler.

Yates rose as the man entered. He stared expectantly, almost fearfully, at the newcomer who seemed loathe to talk.

Insurance Recognized Essential

The Frost-Hart Insurance Agency in Comanche Offers to This Section a Complete Service in the Insurance Business. Miss Iva Hart, Manager.

The modern insurance system that all big insurance companies employ in their business policy is undoubtedly the greatest benefactor that business men and property owners have. Just as life insurance is recognized by all capable financial authorities as being one of the finest investments an individual can make, not only for the protection it offers his dependents but also for the estate he creates, which is available as a basis of credit during his life, so too, is property and general insurance conceded to be one of the prime necessities of the crop grower and property owner.

When one investigates insurance rates of all kinds it is almost unbelievable that the owner of anything of tangible value would jeopardize his investments by lack of insurance and this is especially true when we think of the many things over which we have no control, such as storms, fires and other acts of Providence which might in a short time totally destroy our property. This property, in many cases, must be insured before it can be used as a basis of credit. In case of losses the insured is immediately indemnified and can replace the destroyed property and continue business.

The Frost-Hart Insurance Agency is offering to this section a complete service in the insurance business and they represent many companies which enjoy enviable reputations throughout the country. This firm sells fire, tornado, hail, automobile, plate glass, liability, and any known kind of insurance you may require, including life. No policyholder has ever lost one cent due to the financial difficulties of any company represented by them during their 2 years of operation. They especially feature automobile liability and property damage insurance, which protects the responsible person against law suits by others with whom they might collide and injure.

No protection is more important than this. To drive your car without it may, in case of accident, involve you in a law-suit and judgment of hundreds or, as it often happens, thousands of dollars.

The business policy of this agency is one of public service. Careful and courteous attention will be given to any inquiry you may wish to make. They cordially invite you to avail yourself of any advice you may seek touching on insurance needs.

MY DEAR FRIEND
(In Substance, What a Little Girl Said About Mother)
(By Jesse Allon Tiner)

I wish to speak of my dear friend. And tell how much I love her; On earth I have no other friend Who can compare with Mother.

Though I know many others who Are dear, and much I love them; But mother dear so good and true, In my heart reigns above them.

Sometimes I have within my heart A treasurer little secret, Which, to those friends I can't impart, I fear aloud they'd speak it.

But unto Mother I can go, And she will gladly hear it; For all is safe with her, I know, And with me she will share it.

And when we have a rainy day, And home from school I'm staying, Dear Mother joins me in my play, For she's a chum at playing.

And then at times when I'm not well, And feel a wee bit sickly, Dear Mother, first of all, can tell, And ministers to me quickly.

It makes my heart within me sink, While here I play about her, When'er I stop and sandily think, "What would I do without her?"

My heart then turns to God above, (I know that He does love her.) I pray that in His tender love, He'll keep and share dear Mother.

Good Tires Important

The Dudley Tire Company carries a Complete Line of Texaco Products, Auto-Lite Batteries and Wholesales and Retail Federal Tires. Also Dealers for Chrysler and Plymouth Automobiles, Gail, Tom and Eltos Dudley, Managers.

One of the greatest risks to which the average automobile owner subjects himself is the thoughtless inattention he pays to the safety and quality of his tires, particularly as they become badly worn. Statistics show that over 50 percent of the really serious motor car accidents which annually maim or kill thousands of people in the United States results from tire blowouts while driving at a high rate of speed.

As a matter of fact no particular part of your automobile should be given more careful or serious attention than your tires. None is of more importance to your safety or that of members of your family.

There are a number of good tires on the market today but tire prices are so leveled out that buying tires is more a matter of good judgment than of money.

Federal tires are good tires, their makers believe in them, hence this guarantee. A call at the Dudley Tire Company will find them anxious to explain this plan more fully to you. They are also agents for the Chrysler and Plymouth line of motor cars as well as Auto-Lite batteries. A complete automotive service is offered including gas and oil.

of the report rendered by the Grand Jury to Judge Cross:

"We the Grand Jury empanelled for the April term of the District Court for said county beg leave to report as follows:

"We have examined 268 witnesses and have found forty-eight true bills, 35 felonies and thirteen misdemeanors. We have been in session eleven days.

"We have visited the County Jail and found same well kept and sanitary and the prisoners well fed. We have found a great number of the witnesses before us very reluctant to give evidence where they should. We feel that it is very imperative that all good citizens should stand behind the officers and the enforcement of all laws and we feel that all good government and enforcement of laws comes from the fire-side of the citizenship and we especially emphasize that all citizens teach their children the fundamentals of christianity and good government and respect of all laws.

"We desire to thank your Honor for the charge given us at the beginning of our labors and we also wish to thank the District Attorney, County Attorney and Sheriff for their patient and untiring work. And especially are we appreciative of the lectures and the manner in which they were given by the District Attorney to the young men who came before us. We feel by his so doing will help them to become better citizens and the necessity of obeying the laws of our country. We further wish to express our appreciation to the Walking Bailiff, Door Bailiff and Riding Bailiffs for their services. We think that no Grand Jury has ever had a better set of helpers. They have been faithful and willing in every duty to perform.

We find that a considerable number of boys of school age are not attending school. This is a serious situation. We find that boys who do not attend school are more liable to step aside and do things they should not do than those in school. It is our suggestion that the citizenship of our county, parents, guardians, teachers and school trustees look into this delinquency in their communities in order that same may be remedied; and we further recommend that the Superintendents of schools, officials of P. T. A. and County Superintendents report failures of attendance to the County Attorney and we suggest that they work with him to the end that the failure of attendance of school children in this county be reduced to a minimum.

"Having concluded our labors we ask to be discharged.

Respectfully,
W. D. Sturkie, Foreman,
N. E. Palmer, Secretary."

committee an opportunity to explain in detail the adjustment and gives each farmer a chance to ask questions. This is important for each farmer to be present at the school district where a meeting will be called for each farmer to OK his contract by placing his initials on line eight, table two.

Information as received from the State Review Board is that only two counties in Texas had passed without adjustments. It was pointed out that if the figures are carefully checked that Comanche County had two severe dry years in 1929 and 1930 that very much reduced the yield per acre in this county. The official figures show that in Comanche County the average was in 1928, 97 pounds of lint per acre; 1929, 77 lbs; in 1930, 49 lbs; in 1931, 83 lbs. and in 1932, 96 lbs. A very low average, and an average for the five years of 80 pounds.

Sam Todd, a member of the local cotton control board has resigned his position and John B. Burton was elected to fill this vacancy.

Mr. Todd resigned to give his attention to other businesses.

Why Hospitals Use a Liquid Laxative

Hospitals and doctors have always used liquid laxatives. And the public is fast returning to laxatives in liquid form. Do you know the reasons?

The dose of a liquid laxative can be measured. The action can be controlled. It forms no habit; you need not take a "double dose" a day or two later. Nor will a mild liquid laxative irritate the kidneys.

The right liquid laxative brings a perfect movement, and there is no discomfort at the time, or after.

The wrong cathartic may keep you constipated as long as you keep on using it! And the habitual use of irritating salts, or of powerful drugs in the highly concentrated form of pills and tablets may prove injurious.

A week with a properly prepared liquid laxative like Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin will tell you a lot. A few weeks' time, and your bowels can be as regular as clockwork. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is an approved liquid laxative which is gentle, non-habit forming, and makes an ideal family laxative, effective for all ages, and may be given to the youngest child. MELVIN GORE IS NOW LOCAL AGT OF FRIGIDAIRE

M. E. (Melvin) Gore of the Corner Confectionery, Comanche, has taken over the agency for Frigidaire and from time to time will have 1934 models on display at his business.

Mr. Gore's statement regarding the Frigidaire follows:

"The Frigidaire '34 soon saves enough food to pay for itself. When buying a refrigerator, you should look for the Frigidaire symbol and when buying food you should look for this symbol, 'Frigidaire Protected Foods.'"

"Owners of Frigidaire everywhere will tell you that it is more economical to own a Frigidaire than to be without it. Besides saving an average of $7.70 a month on food, Frigidaire is famous for its small use of electric current. In this way alone owners report a saving of an additional $3.22 per month. Total savings reported are enough to pay for a Frigidaire within a short time. Then there is an additional saving that no one can estimate—the amount of money Frigidaire saves by protecting health, eliminating worry and ending drudgery.

"Let me show you how easily and quickly your Frigidaire '34 will save enough to pay for itself. Let me tell you about the Frigidaire '34 that uses less current than one ordinary lamp bulb. Ask me to explain how your Frigidaire '34 will protect your health, end your worry and inconvenience.

Select Your Frigidaire '34 Now
The sooner you have your Frigidaire '34—the sooner it will begin to pay for itself and then bring you several dollars per month clear savings.

"Choose the Frigidaire '34 that suits your need and pocketbook, then have it delivered at once. Act now.

"You will be proud to say, 'Ours is a Frigidaire '34.'"

J. E. Fitzgerald Says That Fruit Is Man's Best Food

"Some one asked why I think fruit is the best of all fruits for mankind.

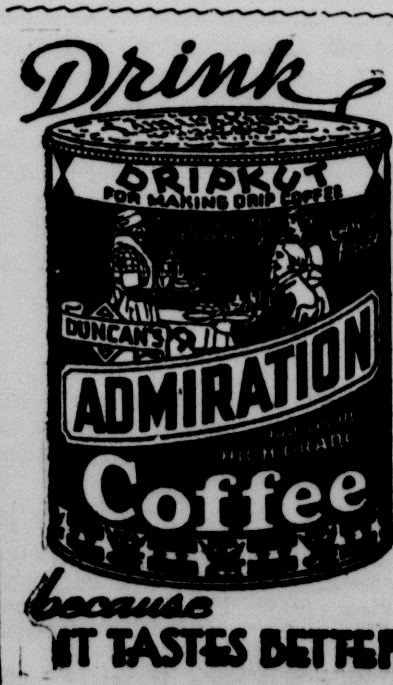

In the beginning we are told that man lived in a garden of fruit. He was told to attend the fruit and we have it that men lived for many years.

"It takes three years to get a peach, plum or apple tree large enough to bear. In that time there is accumulating in that tree the sunshine of three years and the forces of nature are being stored. The eating of grain is an acquired habit. Doubtless men found wheat growing wild many years after he had been eating fruit, and then the making of bread is an acquired habit. Go to your baker for a loaf of bread. To make this bread he had to put in it yeast, the very thing the bootlegger puts in his malt. But you can eat fruit without the addition of yeast.

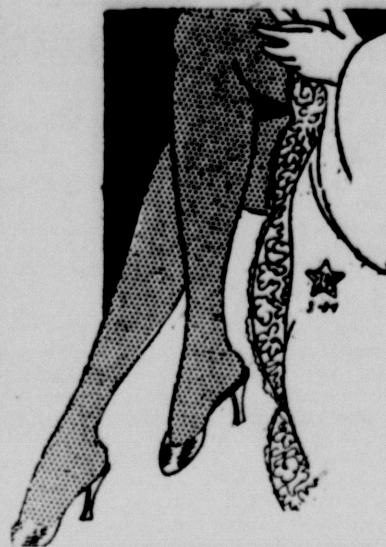

"Fruit is a natural source of energy. The baker must put yeast in his bread to start it to making energy. Some way I have always thought of energy as alcohol. It is what creates life within us. When you eat bread you turn your stomach into a malt barrel. But when you eat fruit it does not have to go through all this process. Then the juices of fruit are distilled as only nature can distill them. We know not the process that puts the purest water of all into peaches and melons.

"Men grow old because they eat an unbalanced ration. Part of this ration stops in the arteries as sediment. You know if you put mineral water into a car battery it ruins the battery. The juices of fruit have no sediment. But about the alcohol in grain. If you set your carburetor on your car so the engine gets too much gas it gets hot and then sluggish. The alcohol in bread to an extent does men the same way.

"Wine is made from fruit. In the days of Shakespeare and Bacon people drank wine. We find

Poultry Raising Increases

The Farmers Produce Company Buys Poultry, Eggs and Turkeys in any Amount at Cash Prices. Their Business Activity Has Stimulated a Greater Production of this Industry in Comanche County. Mr. G. C. McKenzie and Mr. T. E. Majors, Mgrs.

The business of farming probably has, in the past twenty years become a problem of no small consequence in every agricultural community. The successful farmer of today has found it necessary to change his methods and adopt new practices in almost every field of farm activity.

Where in other days the population of many farm communities was almost entirely dependent upon one industry, such as cotton, wheat, or stock raising, in late years the price uncertainty that has hovered over the markets of these industries has made it necessary that the farmer diversify and add a variety of industries to his business in order to how a cash profit. In this respect many Comanche County farmers have turned to poultry raising as a sure way of providing a steady weekly cash income.

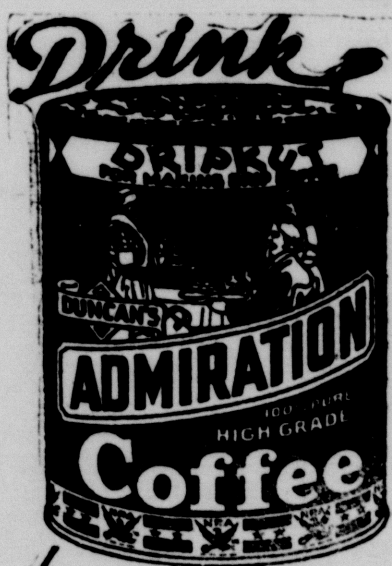

It is interesting to know that only a few years ago this industry was considered an inconsequential farm side line, whereas of late it has proven to be a boon to the farmer not only here but in other sections of the United States.

The Farmers Produce Company is one of the largest buyers of turkeys in Comanche County having shipped some 15 carloads of turkeys to outside markets last year. These turkeys were prepared in their own processing plant using all local labor. Their activity in this line is of great benefit to the local growers as they make possible a ready market and pay the highest prices possible.

The managers are well equipped with the experience necessary in this line having had many years of service and are consequently able to be in touch with the leading markets and in turn can secure the best prices obtainable which they pass on to the growers.

Because of fair treatment their name has become a byword with local growers in this section and they are annually adding new names to the long list who already enjoy the profits and service their establishments here make available. They invite you to consult with them at any time regarding your marketing problems and to make their plant your headquarters while in Comanche.
